New Fighting in Polish Uprising: Reds Admit 38 Dead, 270 Wounded

Rebellion Also Reported in Baltics, Tibet

BERLIN (AP) — New fighting raged early today in the Polish city of Poznan where Communist Poland officially admitted that 38 persons had been killed and 270 wounded in the uprising.

Anti-Communist demonstrations also were reported in the Soviet-occupied Baltic states of Latvia, Estonia and Lithuania and in far-off Tibet where the Communist Chinese have taken over.

Warsaw Radio said in an official communique today that the dead included both rioters and Communist officials and troops.

The broadcast said the "overwhelming majority" of workers have gone back to their jobs in Poznan and that the city "is coming back to normal life."

Feminist Over Chances
The Communist Polish air force was reported to have sent jet fighters thundering over the tank-and-troop filled streets in a warning to freedom fighters to give in or die.

The anti-Communist president of the Polish Republic in Exile said in London "There is no possibility at present for a successful uprising." He expressed concern lest the fighting cause a "calamity for the Polish people."

Some West German newspapers and travelers returning from Poland said fighting still raged early this morning in Poznan. They also reported that the disorders had spread to Stettin, Allenstein, Danzig, Gdingen, Cracow and Warsaw itself. However there was no confirmation of these reports, and other reports contradicted them.

An official communique issued by the Polish government Thursday night said the rebellion had been crushed. But two businessmen who arrived in West Berlin from Poznan said Communist troops and tanks were fighting the rebels early today.

Simultaneously, dispatches reported uprisings in the Baltic states and Tibet.

Tibetan resistance leaders arriving in London today said they had little chance for a full-scale uprising.

WASHINGTON (AP)—American officials said today the Poznan rioting apparently was intended only as a demonstration and there is little chance of a full-scale uprising to overthrow the Communist government.

There is little likelihood that Poland's Red regime could be ousted while both Polish and Soviet troops are on hand to crush any uprising, officials said.

But they interpreted as "serious" the Polish protest demonstration against living conditions and said it will give Red bosses something to worry about in the future.

The State Department itself declined any formal comment. But it was learned a short report confirming the rioting was received during the night.

ing at Darjeeling, India, said a bloody rebellion against the Communists who have established Tibet an "autonomous" state is sweeping through eight provinces.

The travelers said the fighting, first reported by the United Press last April and May, had spread as a result of Red attempts to disarm Tibetans and undermine the authority of the Dalai Lama, leader of the religious government.

The West Berlin newspaper Telegraph, in a dispatch from Helsinki, reported "resistance action" against Red rule in the Baltic states of Latvia, Lithuania and Estonia. The Latvian Radio in Riga was reported seized and held for 48 hours.

Owensboro Man New National Head of Jaycees

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Wendell H. Ford, Owensboro, Ky., newly elected president of the national Junior Chamber of Commerce, today prepared to move into the Jaycees' "White House."

Ford, a 31-year-old insurance man and former national vice president in charge of the national public safety and health program, was elected on the 10th ballot Thursday night as the climax of one of the loudest and longest elections in Jaycee history.

The marathon session remained deadlocked for nearly 9½ hours. Ford and his chief opponent, Michael F. Maloney, Fayetteville, Ark., captured an early lead over the other two candidates, Jack P. Barnes, Portsmouth, Va., and Robert E. Cook, Springfield, Ill.

A clamor was touched off during the eighth ballot when Barnes withdrew from the race. The climax came two rounds later when Cook stepped out of the contest, allowing his supporters to switch to Ford. The Kentuckian then was elected by acclamation.

Rain Slows Fires In New Mexico

By United Press
Thunderstorms and humid weather came to the aid of firefighters battling a 2,000-acre blaze in the Costilla land grant of northern New Mexico today.

The fire was still out of control, but the rain and damp weather helped slow it down.

About 250 men tried to keep the flames from getting a fresh lease on life. Their main hope lay in more rain.

The Costilla blaze was the worst of a rash of fires crackling in parched New Mexico and Arizona timberlands.

All the others were under control, but one of them claimed the first life in the battle against the flames Thursday. It was Alan Wilson Jr., 27, who was crushed by a falling tree.

Elsewhere in the nation, the weather got cooler in the East and hotter in parts of the West.

Multiple Death Accidents Boost Toll by Traffic

By United Press
The nation's traffic toll climbed at headlong pace toward a new record today, spurred upward by a flurry of multiple death accidents.

Safety experts, studying record-breaking figures for the first five months, predicted the possibility that motorists would set a new high in traffic fatalities this year.

The National Safety Council said last month was the bloodiest May in history with 3,170 persons killed on the highways compared with 3,100 last year.

This pushed the year's total to 14,720, 9 per cent above the five-month figure in 1955.

A safety council spokesman said the climbing death rate may also mean the July Fourth holiday will produce a tragically heavy toll.

He said about 80 persons could expect to die on a Wednesday during almost any other week. Memorial Day, however, brought 56 per cent more deaths than on a "normal" Wednesday, he said.

Accidents in which several persons died together accounted for a considerable number of the national toll. Mishaps such as the April 6 collision of a truck and a farm tractor near Normal, Ill., which killed eight farmers, sent the national toll rocketing upward.

Two train-auto collisions killed 12 persons in Ohio. Six died Thursday when a train struck their auto near Hamilton, Ohio, after another train killed six in a car near Elyria.

Also Thursday, two women and two children died when a truck smashed broadside into a car near Barrington, Ill.

Eisenhowers to Celebrate 40th Wedding Anniversary at Their Farm Home Sunday

WASHINGTON (AP) — President and Mrs. Eisenhower will celebrate their 40th wedding anniversary at their farmhouse Sunday in a setting far removed from the two-room Army quarters where they set up housekeeping as a first lieutenant and his 19-year-old bride.

The President and first lady will observe the anniversary with an exchange of personal gifts. But probably the one thing making each happiest about the date is their stay at the Gettysburg, Pa., farm itself—a further step in the President's recovery.

Mr. Eisenhower's "promotion" to the farm house from Walter Reed Hospital could give them the same kind of boost they felt when his promotion to first lieutenant came through 40 years ago on their wedding day.

Mr. Eisenhower's convalescence at the white frame and fieldstone farm house, incidentally, may well be longer than the 10 days leave he got for his honeymoon back in 1916.

Then, tension on the Mexican border and a rising threat of war with Germany kept the honeymoon short and also caused the young couple to move up their wedding date from November to July.

Lt. Eisenhower then was a 25-year-old officer fresh from West Point on his first Army assignment at Ft. Sam Houston, Tex. The moved-up wedding meant the successful end of his campaign for the hand of Denver's popular Mamie Geneva Doud. The campaign had begun less than one year before.

Lt. Eisenhower met his future bride when her family was spending the summer of 1915 in San Antonio, just a few miles from his Army post. The persistent young officer soon narrowed the field of competition and they became unofficially engaged on Valentine's Day the next year. His present to her of a full-sized copy of his West Point class ring — amethyst set in gold.

The official engagement was announced St. Patrick's Day. By that time Lt. Eisenhower had stretched his $167 a month salary to buy his fiancée a ring with a small diamond cluster.

No Progress in 'Last Ditch' Steel Talks

Union Moves to Meet with Industry's
'Summit' Leaders

NEW YORK (AP) — A last ditch negotiating session between the United Steelworkers Union and the big three steel producers broke up today with no apparent progress just 36 hours before a strike deadline.

Negotiators met for more than an hour. They left the meeting with grim faces. They reported "no comment" to questions on progress in overcoming a deadlock on a new contract for the steel industry.

Some hope was pinned on a union move to meet with the industry's "summit" leaders and on continued 11th hour negotiating sessions.

A top spokesman for the union said no answer has been received from any of the 12 major companies for the "summit" meeting aimed at averting an economy-crippling strike. The strike deadline is midnight Saturday.

Union President David J. McDonald said he would be in touch with the industry's chief negotiator, Jon A. Stephens, during the day to arrange another negotiating meeting. McDonald indicated the negotiators may meet again tonight, but said no time had been set.

Two Union Meetings

McDonald went immediately into a meeting with his international executive board. He will meet this afternoon with his Wage Policy Committee to report on the negotiations.

Thursday night McDonald urged the top executives of a dozen steel companies to meet with him personally today in a dramatic effort to head off a strike by 650,000 steelworkers.

Industry spokesmen said the chairmen or presidents of the 12 major steel producers, who are in New York, would give "serious consideration" to McDonald's request.

McDonald's request came as the steel industry cooled its multi-billion dollar furnaces in anticipation of the walkout which threatens to be the longest in the history of the steel industry.

Congress Gives Final Approval to Defense Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson said today that the administration's defense program is adequate.

"It would be a serious disservice to our country and the morale of the free world to belittle it," he said.

He made the statements as both Senate and House gave final approval to a $34,600,000,000 defense budget for fiscal 1957. This included a $900,000,000 boost in the Air Force's budget to a total of $16,500,000,000—a boost which the administration had opposed. The big appropriation goes to the White House for President Eisenhower's signature.

In hard-hitting testimony before the Senate Air Power subcommittee, Wilson used such terms as "fantastic" and "defies the imagination" to describe the atomic punch of American air power.

He said the nation can expect to have intercontinental ballistic missiles in the "relatively near future."

Wilson appeared before the subcommittee on the heels of claims from Air Force commanders that America may lose its air power leadership to Russia in a few years.

Democrats have contended administration policies are frittering away the nation's air leadership. Only Thursday Senate-House conferees agreed to boost the Air Force's budget by 900 million dollars despite the administration's claim that its original $15,600,000,000 request was adequate.

Wilson said that every claim the committee heard from advocates of more air power was carefully studied before the new defense budget was presented to Congress last January.

"We deplore efforts to belittle the capacity and resolve of this government to be prepared to meet

Stelle Picks Up Tab for Big Rally At McLeansboro

McLEANSBORO, Ill. (AP)—Former Gov. John Stelle picked up the tab Thursday for 700 fried chicken dinners served to an equal number of southern Illinois Democrats.

The chicken fry was sponsored by the Hamilton County Democratic organization and leading Democrats from all over the state attended.

An informal poll of the party workers from 20 counties was taken at the luncheon to see who they want as the Democratic presidential nominee. However, the results were not announced.

Stelle, who is an announced foe of Adlai E. Stevenson for the nomination, told the group his choice is Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri.

The rally also heard speeches from three Democratic candidates for state office. They are Roscoe Bonjean, running for lieutenant governor; Herbert C. Paschen, running for governor, and David Mallett, candidate for secretary of state.

John Bennett Dotson of Paducah Named Head Cage Coach at HTHS

The Harrisburg Township high school board of education last night hired a head basketball coach to succeed Gene Bland, who resigned the post after suffering a heart attack last January. Principal Eltis F. Henson announced today.

New cage mentor is John Bennett Dotson, head basketball coach at Paducah, Ky., Junior college the past two years. Mr. Bland, whose post was taken over for the rest of the season by Lawrence Caluffetti, athletic director and head football coach, will remain on the HTHS faculty as an instructor of social studies and driver's training.

Mr. Dotson will assist in football and take over one of the spring sports. He probably will teach biology.

This summer he is scouting for the Cleveland Indians baseball club, conducting trout camps in Indiana.

A graduate in 1948 of Western Illinois State college at Macomb, where he played both basketball and baseball, Mr. Dotson has worked on his master's degree since that time at Butler university in Indiana and Colorado State college at Gunnison.

He has majored in physical education with minors in social studies, health and biology. He was director of athletics and head basketball coach at English-Sterling high school at English, Ind., from 1948-52, winning 76 games and losing 18 while there.

During the same period he was baseball coach, his team winning 42 and losing nine.

He worked in the engineering department during the construction of the Atomic Energy plant near Paducah from 1952 to 1954, then took over as director of athletics at Paducah Junior college.

Last year his basketball team won the Kentucky Junior College conference title for the first time in the history of the school and it also won the Kentucky Junior college conference tournament.

A big fellow, Mr. Dotson is 6 feet two and a half inches tall and weighs 210 pounds. He is 36 years old, is married but has no children. He is a Presbyterian.

Find Body of Man Near Olney

OLNEY, Ill. (AP)—An inquest verdict of accidental death was returned Thursday in the case of Herbert Johnson, 38, whose body was found near Dundan.

Johnson's body was found by Paul Sprinkel, a truck driver from Lawrenceville, alongside a shotgun on property leased for oil drilling. Sprinkel said he was making a delivery in the area when he discovered the body.

Richland County Coroner P. E. Sutton estimated Johnson died Wednesday morning. He said the decision of the inquest was that death was caused by an accidental discharge from the shotgun.

'Courtesy Boxes' In Effect to Pay Parking Meter Fines

"Courtesy" boxes into which parking meter fines for over-parking may be placed went into effect today. They have been placed conveniently in the parking meter areas and persons no longer need to go to the city hall to pay over-parking penalties.

A new type of parking ticket is being used. Instead of the customary piece of paper, it is in the form of an envelope. Persons receiving these tickets may drop the 50 cents into the envelope and drop the envelope into the yellow box.

Chief of Police Ross Lane, said these boxes are proving highly satisfactory in other places, stated they were being placed here on a 90-day free trial basis.

President Signs Highway Bill With New Taxes

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower today signed into law a $32,900,000,000 highway construction bill, which includes new taxes to help pay for it.

The 13-year construction program includes a 41,000-mile interstate highway network that will circle the nation's state capitals.

The new taxes including a cent a gallon increase in federal gasoline taxes and a 3 cents a pound tax on tires, take effect on Sunday.

Mr. Eisenhower signed the bill in his suite at Walter Reed hospital where he is recuperating from his recent abdominal operation. It was one of the pieces of "must" legislation he especially requested from Congress.

The President said he was "highly pleased" with the bill.

The interstate network of super-highways will cost an estimated $27,500,000,000. The federal government will pay $24,800,000,000, with state governments putting up the remainder.

The increased taxes will cost the average motorist an estimated $8.60 a year. But he will save a penny for each mile he drives on the new interstate highway network.

Besides cheaper and quicker travel the superhighways also will be designed to provide much safer driving.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says: Fateful Decisions Faced Ike
On The Week He Was Stricken; Stress And Strain Had Caused Illness Before; He Had Difficult Argument Over Ex-
Senator Cain.

WASHINGTON. — More facts are gradually leaking out regarding the crucial days which preceded President Eisenhower's illness. They show the strain under which he worked, the vital decisions he faced in the pressing burden that is the presidency.

Shortly before the illness he had called in House of Representatives leaders to urge reinstatement of one billion dollars in foreign aid. The President did a magnificent, eloquent job, talking for 30 minutes in two 15-minute periods.

"I am talking to you as a military man," he said.

In detail he explained how certain types of American bombers could make a certain number of missions over Moscow if they flew from European bases, as compared with far fewer trips if bigger bombers flew from the U.
S. A. He wanted money for these overseas bases.

The President was sincere and effective. His listeners were impressed. But he became flushed with the exertion. His face, pale before he started talking, was crimson when he finished. It was a brilliant, impassioned plea, but not the kind to be made by a man with a heart condition or high blood pressure.

When he had finished, Speaker
Rayburn said:

"Mr. President, this meeting should have been held two weeks ago. The foreign aid bill is now out of committee. However, we will do our best."

Rayburn carried out his promise—only to be reversed. The reverse was a defeat for him, but,
more important, it was a defeat for Ike himself, who had laid his reputation and his leadership on the line. The crushing vote against him occurred a few hours before the midnight he was taken ill.

THE WILEY DECISION

One day before his illness the President had been quizzed at a press conference regarding his failure to support GOP Sen. Alexander Wiley of Wisconsin, a faithful Eisenhower supporter on foreign aid. Though Ike had appealed to Republican leaders for support on foreign aid, and though Wiley has consistently gone down the line for him despite political opposition back in Wisconsin, the President did not support him
when anti-Ike, pro-McCarthy forces conspired against him for re-nomination.

When the President was queried about this in a press conference one day before he became ill he became flushed and noticeably unhappy. Wiley, he replied, had not wanted White House aid; he, Eisenhower, had not intervened
in other Republican primaries.

A newspaperman asked why he had intervened in Oregon to help
ex-Secretary of the Interior Mc-Kay. Ike replied he had not known other Republicans were running. This also was embarrassing. For newsmen knew that four Republicans had already entered the Oregon primary before Eisenhower wrote his letter endorsing McKay.

Suddenly at his press conference the President seemed to realize that his aides had given him poor advice.

All these problems seemed to converge at once. On other occasions Ike has had stomach upsets when he faced disagreeable decisions, as when he testified for the 1950 reduced military budget and faced bitter criticism of his own military comrades. Illness that followed forced him to spend over a month in Key West.

CAIN RAISES CAIN

And on this crucial first week in June there occurred two other unpleasant crises. One was his statement sympathetic to neutral nations which so aroused the Philippines and Pakistan that the White House had to issue a statement next day correcting the President of the United States.
This occurred just a few hours before that fateful midnight.

Also, just a few hours before,
Ike had an unpleasant session with ex-Sen. Harry Cain, the bitter Republican critic of the Eisenhower loyalty program.

Senator Cain had scarcely set foot inside the President's office
when the sparks began to fly.
Cain got into a shouting match,
not with Ike but with White House counsel Gerald Morgan, who sat in on the interview.

Morgan accused Cain of shooting from the hip and attacking the President's loyalty program without talking to the White House first. Testily he charged that Cain was not a "team player"—
a serious accusation in the Eisenhower vernacular.

Cain shot back that he had reported to the White House but had been rebuffed by the palace guard.
He had tried to get information to Ike about abuses in the loyalty program, he snorted, but had been unable to crack through the ring of aides around the President.

This, replied Morgan in a high voice, was untrue. Cain fixed the White House counsel with a belligerent look and began to recite the details of exactly whom he had seen and what he had told them.

By this time the blood was noticeably rising up Ike's neck. He had been grim and unsmiling throughout the verbal duel. Now he broke in sharply and restored order.

Cain promptly began to recite the details of a security case in Seattle, a typical abuse of individual rights by the loyalty program.
Ike was incredulous at first to learn that a man could be accused of a loyalty violation simply for being outspoken. When he was told that blabbermouths, drunks, sex deviates, and other misfits were classified as loyalty cases, the President muttered: "I didn't know that."

General Eisenhower's own emotions are always on the side of the underdog, and the more he heard about the Seattle case the angrier he became. Ike made it clear that he considered the case a shocking violation of individual rights.
With face flushed, he began pushing buttons. Secretaries began popping in.

The President gave terse orders about handling further communications from Cain, then asked the outspoken ex-senator to submit a detailed memo on his criticisms of the loyalty program.

All these were part of the steady drumfire of problems faced by every president which seemed to converge on a man recently recovered from a heart attack and doing his best to carry on under the great load given him by his aides and the politicians.

Fosters Return From Hike in Great Smoky Park

Mr. and Mrs. John F. Foster of Harrisburg have returned from a week's vacation in the Great Smoky Mountains National park.
They were a part of a group of adults and their children from southern Illinois and southeast Missouri who belong to the "Upper 40" club, who walked over a 35 mile section of the Appalachian Trail running through the park.
The Appalachian Trail is a 2,000 mile footpath from Maine to Georgia and the section the group covered is the roughest part of the 71 miles located inside the park boundary.

The group was led by Wayman Presley, rural mail carrier from Makanda, and included the children in order to show the people of this area that although it is a rough trail, if a child of ten years old can make it there is nothing for older people to fear.

Food and sleeping equipment were carried in packs on their backs on the four day hike and for most part contained de-hydrated and powdered foods to lighten the loads while climbing from Newfound Gap over Mount Kephart, Charlie's Bunion, Laurel Top, Mount Chapman, Mount Guyot, and White Rock Tower to Davenport Gap.

Three-sided shelters with six bunks are provided by the park for the traveler and are located near a sparkling spring of cool water. Because of the large number in the party, many had to sleep outside the shelter. Black bears were nightly visitors who came sniffing into camp in search of food. Although not dangerous unless molested the bears still gave the group some exciting moments. One of the couples in the group carried a light weight tent and on one occasion a bear pushed his head into the tent before the sleeping occupants waked and drove it away. They "claim" the bear's head was as big as a barrel seen from such close range.

The hike along the trail is definitely not for sissies and is far from a pleasant stroll, but the group highly recommends it to anyone who enjoys roughing it in order to see the majestic beauty of the Smokies whose 16 peaks rise more than 6,000 feet and whose valleys are filled with a soft blue haze which give the region its name.

Mr. and Mrs. Foster plan to take at a later date the southern half of the Appalachian trail through the park and some day
the trail through the Blue Ridge country.

Cooking Tests for Brides Proposed By Mrs. America

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Cleo Maletis, Mrs. America of 1956, today demanded legislation to force every prospective bride to pass cooking tests before receiving a marriage license.

The 31-year-old homemaker from Portland, Ore., said she planned to try to get Sens. Wayne Morse and Richard L. Neuberger, and
Rep. Edith Green, all Oregon
Democrats to back her proposal.

The contest winner, who was selected for her homemaking abilities made the statements in a breakfast interview here. She said her husband, Chris, 33, and her three boys thoroughly approve of the cooking-test legislation.

The champion housewife said
she received "so much fan mail"
from husbands who complained about their wives' cooking that she realized the need for such a law.

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D.D.
Written for NEA Service

The oil lamp, the hand pump, the horse and buggy, and scores of yesterday's conveniences have been replaced by labor saving devices. We can scarcely remember the hand-cranked car or the crystal radio. The traveling dentist is only a character in an historical novel. The washboard and the hand wringer have gone the way of the 12-hour day and the six-day week.

Labor saving devices have made life easier. They have given us more time to do the things we want to do. Leisure time became a problem when children no longer had to do their share of morning and afternoon chores.

Juvenile delinquency grew. Golf widows came into being. Bridge mothers emerged from the pressure cooker kitchen with its instant coffee, precooked rice and quick frozen foods.

Invention has not stopped. In fact it is being accelerated every day. The work of living will grow even lighter. We shall have more leisure time, and more bids for our free hours.

It is time to give some serious thought to budgeting a reasonable portion of our time to enjoying the companionship of God. He made possible all of the advancement of science and the simplification of living. He created the human mind, and the things we use, as well as the time we squander so freely.

Ten minutes a day devoted to reading the Bible would make life more interesting. We should learn a great deal which even television does not teach.

Clipping Oats Under Soil Bank

Farmers who are considering using an acreage of oats to comply with the corn acreage reserve part of the Soil Bank should bear in mind two important factors: (1) Oats to be eligible must be clipped by July 1, and (2) farmers should make certain that they understand the program before they take action.

By way of explanation Herman Driskell, chairman of the county committee, points out that this eligibility to use oats only applies to farmers who have underplanted their corn base. Such underplanted acreage of corn (plus corn otherwise disposed of) must meet the minimum requirement. In this event the farmer may place one acre of oats in the acreage reserve for each acre by which his corn base is underplanted. The oats so placed in the reserve must not have been grazed after June 22, they must be clipped by July 1 and left on the land, and there can be absolutely no harvest or further pasturing during 1956.

It is suggested that farmers intending to comply with the Soil Bank acreage reserve program by clipping oats, should call at the county office immediately and check over their plans in order to avoid the possibility of an error.

LOS ANGELES (U-P)—The showdown for spots on the U. S. The features tonight are the finals in the 100-meter dash, 400-meter hurdles and 5,000-meter run.

ernoon program Saturday. Holding the spotlight tonight in the 100 will be Bobby Morrow, labeled by some coaches as the fastest man of all time. The Abilene Christian sprinter already has tied the world standard for 100 meters and the track experts figure this will be a good chance to lower the mark first set at 10.2 20 years ago by the one-and-only Jesse Owens.

Among those running against Morrow in the second heat of the preliminaries will be Dave Sime, the recuperating flash from Duke; Bobby Whilden of Texas and the Pan American champion, Rod Richard of the Army. In the other heat the big names are Dick Blair of Kansas, Eamon King of California, Thane Baker of the Air Force and Ira Murchison of the Army, all capable men who might break a world record under the right conditions.

Business Experts Say Short Steel Strike Will Not Affect Economy

NEW YORK (AP)—Business and financial experts said today small segments of American industry will feel the effects of a steel strike almost immediately but the nation's overall economy will survive a short strike and emerge strong and healthy.

The construction industry said it will suffer almost immediately. Oil companies said they would be hurt by a shortage of steel pipe within a week if a strike lasts that long.

Coal mining concerns prepared for almost immediate cutbacks in production of the fuel which goes to the steel industry. And railroads reported revenues would be cut "within a week" if coal and steel shipments begin to lag.

"The longer a strike lasts the more people it will hurt," said Paul Babson of United Business Service in Boston. "For the first week or two it will be like a glorified vacation. If it lasts two months a lot of people are going to feel the bite."

"You can count on among those who are going to be hurt," said A. Kingsley Ferguson, vice president of the McGraw Construction Co. "We don't have a big steel inventory and business is booming. Take away our supply of steel and we're really in the soup."

Ferguson said a strike would start delaying building schedules within a couple of days.

"If it lasts a week we may have to start laying off construction workers. If they can't work bricklayers can't work. And if bricklayers can't work, electricians can't work."

Ferguson's analysis of the effects of a strike followed closely the pattern set in 1952 when steelworkers walked off their jobs on June 2 and steel production stopped for 53 days.

During that strike the 650,000 members of the United Steelworkers of America lost an estimated 350 million dollars in wages and the cost to the nation's economy was more than 5 billion dollars in lost production.

Some 1,400,000 workers were eventually burloughed from their jobs in the automobile, railroad, coal mining and fabricating industries.

Eisenhower to Spend 2 Weeks At Gettysburg

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower plans to leave the hospital Saturday morning and spend "at least two weeks" convalescing at his Gettysburg, Pa., farm, the White House announced today.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said so far as he knows the President "will not make a statement" when he leaves the Army's Walter Reed Medical Center about 6:30 a. m. CST.

Reporters had asked Hagerty about a statement, on the possibility that the President might have something to say about his second term intentions.

Hagerty said he plans to issue a "final medical bulletin" on the President's condition just before Mr. Eisenhower leaves the hospital. The President entered the hospital June 8 and underwent major surgery the following day for an intestinal block.

Mrs. Eisenhower will accompany the President to the farm. Hagerty said present plans are for Mr. Eisenhower "to stay at Gettysburg for at least two weeks."

Hagerty said there will not be any last-minute news conference with the President's physicians.

Maj. Gen. Howard McC. Snyder, the President's personal physician, will accompany Mr. Eisenhower to Gettysburg and remain there with him.

Maj. Gen. and Mrs. Leonard D. Heaton will be the President's house guests during the weekend. Heaton, commander of Walter Reed Medical Center, performed the surgery on the President.

Bachelor Prof Seeks to Evade Leap Year Pursuit

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP)—A bachelor University of Illinois psychology professor appealed to the courts today in an effort to evade the leap year pursuit of a former co-ed.

Josef Cohen, 34, associate professor of psychology, charged in a complaint that Miss Dawn Wolfe, 28, Alton, "disturbed the peace of an individual" in her efforts to woo him.

Cohen filed the complaint with Police Magistrate Virgil W. Burgess, who said Cohen first charged that she disturbed his "peace of mind," then changed it to "individual."

Miss Wolfe was graduated in June, but returned to Champaign shortly after she finished her school work, apparently to be near Cohen. Cohen charged she began bombarding him with love notes, phone calls and gifts in the spring of 1955, and refused to stop.

Cincinnati Wins Fifth
Straight Game as Smokey
Burgess Hits 3-Run Homer

By United Press
Manager Birdie Tebbetts of the Cincinnati Redlegs is playing such a "hot hand" these days that he can come up with a game-winning homer by penning the National League's All-Star catcher.

Tebbetts did just that Thursday night when he decided to let Ed Bailey newly-elected to the All-Star squad by the fans' vote, sit out a game in favor of stumpy, 29-year-old Smokey Burgess. It turned out to be the winning move, too, when Burgess walloped a three-run eighth-inning homer that gave the Redlegs a 4-3 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

The blast gave the Redlegs their fifth straight triumph and lifted them to within six percentage points of the idle first-place Milwaukee Braves. It also marked the slumping Pirates' 11th defeat in 12 games and dropped them a game and a half behind fourth-place St. Louis.

No Idle Hunch

It was no idle "hunch" move that caused Tebbetts to substitute Burgess for Bailey. Although nominally the Redlegs' reserve catcher, Burgess is out-hitting every "regular" receiver in the circuit except Bailey, Stan Lopata and Bill Sarni. The homer was his fifth of the season and he has knocked in 25 runs in 29 games compared to Bailey's 29 RBIs in 51 games.

Together, Bailey and Burgess

have a composite batting average of .315 18 homers and have driven in 54 runs. So it might be wise for the National League to add still another Redleg to its All-Star squad in the person of Cincinnati's "second-string catcher."

Tom Acker, who pitched only one inning, received credit for his first victory of the year while Luis Arroyo suffered his second loss. Burgess' homer was the 100th of the year for the Redlegs, who will break the 1947 New York Giants' all-time mark of 221 at their current pace.

Giants Down Dodgers

The Giants shook off their last-place doldrums at least for a night when they walloped four homers in downing the Brooklyn Dodgers, 6-3, in the other National League game. Foster Castleman, Jackie Brandt, Bill White and Daryl Spencer homered for the Giants, who beat their arch-rivals for only the second time in seven meetings. Junior Gilliam homered for the Dodgers, who had a three-game winning streak ended.

Harvey Kuenn, who went to bat for Detroit Manager Bucky Harris in a recent radio broadcast, did it in even more concrete fashion with two homers that sparked the Tigers to a 4-0 triumph over the Kansas City Athletics. The victory snapped a 10-game losing streak for the Tigers, who hadn't won since June 15 in a slump that placed Harris' job in peril.

Kuenn homered in the third and eighth innings and the Tigers then added two more runs in the ninth. Virgil Trucks went the distance, limiting the Athletics to six hits in gaining his third win while Jack McMahan, recently acquired from the Pirates, suffered the defeat.

Five Cincinnati
'Fence Breakers'
On All-Star Team

NEW YORK — Starting lineups for the July 10 major league All-Star game were announced today and Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick quickly defended a brand - new National League array that included five of Cincinnati's "fence breakers."

"Don't forget Cincinnati has a pretty good ball club," said the commissioner after the final tally of fan votes was disclosed.

The vote produced an NL array that didn't include a single hold-over from last year's starting lineup.

Veteran third baseman George Kell of the Baltimore Orioles was the only "new face" in the American League's starting lineup for the game at Washington's Griffith Stadium.

Here are the starting lineups after the final tally of fan votes, with the total for each player.

Sugar Creek, Walker's and Crab Orchard Win In Kiwanis Play

By David Nelson

Sugar Creek beat Jackson's Drugs, 14-2, Walker's Cleaners defeated the Reds, 13-7, and Crab Orchard downed Social Brethren, 8-6, in Kiwanis league baseball games Thursday.

Sugar Creek took an early lead, scoring four times in the first inning as they won their 14-2 straight Kitty League game, 14-2, from Jackson's Drugs. Karnes and Cushtis pitched for the winners, giving up two runs on six hits and four walks while striking out five. Gee and Hegglin split the pitching duties for the losers, allowing 14 runs on eight base hits and 13 free passes as they struck out three.

Mugge led Sugar Creek at bat with a triple and two singles, and Cushtis, Shelton, Karnes, Wiley and Fields hit safely once each. Hegglin, Gee, C. Wollesen, D. Wollesen, Shanks and Darrar all singled for the losers.

Walker's Cleaners started off with a bang, scoring seven runs in the first inning, as they broke a four-game losing streak, winning their first game of the season, 13-7, over the Reds. Cannon and Hodson pitched for the winners, giving up seven runs on eight safeties and eight bases on balls. Hensen and Pool combined on the hill for the losing Reds, allowing 13 runs on eight hits and five walks.

For Walker's at bat Pavelonis homered, tripled and singled, Hickey singled twice and Hodson, Wiley and Businaro had one safe blow apiece. Pool led the losers at bat with three hits. Bebout and Hensen had two apiece and Me-Sparin picked up one safe blow.

Errors were costly as Crab Orchard downed Social Brethren, 8-6. Hagan and Stricklin, the losers' pitchers, gave up only two hits but their team made six errors. Hasting and Mocabey pitched for the winners and were touched for six runs on six hits and two bases on balls.

For the losers at bat Carnett homered and Stricklin, Agin, Pickering, Carmon and Brown singled once each. Hasting had both hits for Crab Orchard. The winners scored two in the first, five in the second and one in the fourth while the losers were crossing the plate three times in the first, once in the second and twice in the fifth.

Lily Arnette's face was unnaturally pale and Frank knew she had glimpsed Yates "Why don't you have faith in Frank, Doc?"

"Huh." Dr. La Tour grunted. "Faith is mighty flimsy and scarce in this world." He stamped out. "It looks," Lily said softly, "as though you boys had been running a butcher shop."

Frank dropped his hand against Lily's arm and turned her away. The door closed on the blacksmith.

The small room in which Frank found himself had heavy plush drapes, a plush couch against one wall, a table with a fine lamp in its center. Lily turned at the table to face him.

"You did know Ed Rambaut?" she murmured softly. "How did Ed die?"

His thoughts ran back over that night in the Signals. He recalled Ed Rambaut had been the only man on this range to offer him the hand of friendship. In dying he had wanted him to take his guns and escape. There was no question in Frank's mind that in life Rambaut had been hard-living, and a hard-willed man. But he had understood loyalty, and this was a quality Lily esteemed.

He said quietly "That's the second time you've asked the question."

A sly look touched her glance. "The first time you denied knowing him. Now you're more honest. Did Ed say anything about me?"

"No. He just laid there back on the rocks pouring lead at the raiders till his strength left him. He died the way a man falls asleep."

He saw the pleasure his words brought her. "Brave till the end," she murmured and nodded. "He was never afraid; he was generous and outspoken, so that you knew what he was thinking about, and he stood up for the one who befriended him. Black as sin, and just as ugly, but they don't make men like him often."

"Then he meant considerable to you?"

"I'll miss him." A touch of sadness dropped over her eyes and then she shrugged. Beneath her white satin bodice her breasts were lifting. "Who were the men who raided you?"

"So you can get revenge?"

"Would revenge be worth it?" She took a half step coming to him, her hand lifting against his arm. "There are only a few things worth while. Money and happiness—today, now."

Frank shook his head and her fingers twisted in his shirt. "You saw Norring—no, he must have been in town all the time. Was it Milo Hackett who killed Ed?"

"I don't know."

"But you think it. I'll make them pay for that!"

He heard Swede stirring beyond the door and knew the blacksmith would be coming into this smaller room. Anything he got from Lily would have to be soon, and a dozen questions without answers nagged him.

"How did Emmett lose the Alhambra?"

"So you know about that?" She held her full look on him. Finally she smiled. "Norrington is sharper at cards than an honest banker should be. Emmett and he played in a second story room behind the Alhambra for two nights and a day. Even the clerk at the bank thought Norring was out of town on business. When he came downstairs he sent for Bamford and fired the regular bartender. That was Ed Rambaut. Three days after that Emmett was still drunk. I saw him once during that time. He didn't know what he was doing and kept raving about Norring being a cheat. A night after that there was a raid on Norring's bank."

"Emmett got blamed?"

"The bank clerk was working in a back room. He recognized him."

It was a thin story.

Frank made out a party of horse-men swinging in from the opposite end of Cashtown. Patches of lamplight from the shop windows gave him enough illumination to recognize the posse. Midway in block they drew into a knot before Lew Chantry's office. Their horses were weary and sweaty. One by one the group broke away, the sheriff alone remaining motionless in his saddle. Frank sensed he had been recognized.

Deliberately he moved to the Rafters C black hitched up block. He withdrew the saddle gun from his fenders, turning slowly to face Chantry. The sheriff continued to watch him. With the gun lowered the full length of his arm Frank walked toward the law office. One of the possemen reined over giving him a thorny look. Frank lifted a hand and the posseman veered away, satisfied at the gesture.

"Easy does it with that gun," Chantry murmured softly. "Just what are you figuring to do?"

"Coming in for a talk, sheriff."

Chantry's head swiveled a bare fraction. "That's a Rafters C horse. Seems I ought to know you."

"You do. You been chasing me most of the afternoon."

"That's what I reckoned. You better make this clear mighty fast."

"I rode in with that idea," Frank said. He held forward the saddle rifle.

The sheriff's gaze never roved from him as he brought the breech of the saddle gun to his nose. The hazel eyes were reading him. Chantry brushed away the rusty-colored edges of his mustache. "You could have cleaned the barrel," he said flatly.

"I didn't."

Yama Bahama Meets
Gil Turner in 10-Round
TV-Radio Bout Tonight

NEW YORK — Yama Bahama from the island of Bimini has 22 straight victories but he seeks a middleweight rating tonight in his TV-radio NBC fight with ex-contender Gil Turner at Madison Square Garden.

It should be an exciting 10-rounder because Yama from the Bahamas speedy, smart and ambitious at 23; and fiery Turner of Philadelphia, 25, never has turned in a bad fight.

In brisk wagering, Yama is favored at 7-5 to win his first Garden main event although he is facing a more experienced opponent, who has been battling standouts in the welterweight and middleweight divisions for the past five years.

The fight tonight will be telecast by WSIL over NBC network at 8 o'clock.

State to Test Water for System At Stonefort

Representatives of the Illinois Department of Public Health are expected in Stonefort next week to run tests on the water supply for the proposed municipal water system at Stonefort.

The water, to be supplied from two deep wells at the reunion grounds, has been tested by the bonding and engineering company working with village officials and the tests indicated the water would meet all health requirements and is said to be softer than water softer equipment could make it.

For quantity, the wells pumped 75 gallons per minute for a long period of time and this is estimated to be the maximum requirements for the possibly 120 persons who would use the system.

The wells are more than 90 feet deep and the pumping was only from a depth of 16 to 18 feet. It is thought that considerable more water could be pumped by going deeper.

Snyder, McClelland and Associates, Hillsboro, Ind., is the bonding and engineering firm handling the work for the village. If the water system is completed the storage tank will be on a hill north of Stonefort, 180 feet above the level of the wells, a spokesman said.

It is estimated the cost of constructing the system would be $128,000. Voters have approved a $28,000 general bond issue and the additional $100,000 would come from water revenue bonds.

The wells in the reunion grounds were drilled about five years ago by KMBB Post 400, American Legion and will be donated to the village, it is reported.

Illinois Firm Asks Authority to Build Nuclear Plant

CHICAGO (U.P.)—Commonwealth Edison Co. asked for state authority today to build a 45-million-dollar nuclear power plant in Grundy County, 40 miles southwest of Chicago.

The ICC scheduled a hearing today on the utility's petition for a certificate of public convenience and necessity to build and operate the plant. Routine ICC approval was expected.

Commonwealth Edison already has a construction permit from the Atomic Energy Commission — one of two such permits the AEC has issued. The start of construction is programmed for early next year, and the plant is due to be completed in 1960.

Young Sailor On Emergency Transfer Seeks Missing Wife

SAN FRANCISCO (U.P.)—A weary young sailor plodded the streets of a strange city today, trying to find his missing wife in a sea of alien faces.

Charles A. Johnson, 25, of Cleburne, Tex., arrived Thursday on an emergency transfer from Sangley Point Naval Base in Manila.

His wife, Wanda, 20, disappeared March 6 after boarding a bus in Cleburne for San Francisco. She was going to join him in Manila. "She had been upset ever since I left to go to the Philippines," Johnson said, "and she was getting worse all the time."

Wanda kissed their 4-year-old son, Danny, and climbed aboard a Southwest Greyhound Lines bus. Greyhound said ticket stubs indicated she arrived in San Francisco. She never got in touch with the Navy about her transportation. More than a month passed before anyone realized she was missing.

Danny is now with Wanda's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Travis Dilleshaw of Cleburne, a town near Fort Worth. Johnson's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Horace W. Johnson of New Bedford, Mass.

U. S. Aviation Executive Says He Did No Business While in Russia

MOSCOW (U.P.)—The American aviation firm executive who made the first post-war private flight to Moscow said today he "didn't do any business" here.

William P. Lear arrived here during the visit of U. S. Air Force Gen. Nathan Twining. Twining ordered an investigation when he learned that Lear's plane contained flight gear that is on the Western list of strategic goods embargoed from export to Russia.

"I didn't do any business and I didn't expect to do any," Lear said before leaving for Berlin. "It was a pure joy ride."

Pool Efforts to Halt Death Traps In Refrigerators

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—Government and industry will pool efforts this summer to find safe and satisfactory devices which children can operate to free themselves from potential death traps inside refrigerators.

It is estimated some 30 children suffocated and died in refrigerators and home freezers they locked themselves into during the last year. A like number locked themselves and survived.

The National Bureau of Standards will use children of its own staff members to test child reactions to various inside-release systems. Cooperating in this psychological experimentation is the National Electrical Manufacturers Assn. and the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

The House Commerce Committee voted unanimously Thursday in favor of a bill to make it a federal offense to ship unsafe boxes in interstate commerce. Violators would be subject to maximum penalties of a year's imprisonment or $1,000 fine, or both.

Bodies Awaiting Burial Increase in Cemetery Strike

SAN FRANCISCO (U.P.)—San Francisco counted more than 640 bodies awaiting burial today in 11 cemeteries closed by a 52-day strike and lockout.

The City Health Department reported scarce storage space in mortuaries is rapidly being used up at a rate of 10 new additions a day.

Negotiations in the protracted dispute resumed today with both sides hopeful a settlement might not be far off. The cemetery negotiations were studying a union proposal for a 27½ cent hourly wage increase in a two-year contract.

It was the first time the union budged from its insistence on a one-year contract, with a 15-cent hourly raise retroactive to March 1. The union previously rejected an employer offer for a three-year contract with a total of 22½ cents an hour in raises.
